Bhopal: In a shocking incident, a tribal woman was allegedly set on fire and later a group of villagers filmed the incident on camera as she kept screaming for help to save her in the Guna district of Madhya Pradesh. A video in which the woman can be seen ablaze has gone viral on social media platforms.

The victim identified as 38-year-old Rampyari Bai belongs to a particularly vulnerable tribal group (PVTG). She is battling for her life with severe burn injuries at a hospital, police said on Sunday.

The doctors treating the tribal woman said she has suffered 80 percent burns and her condition is critical, as per TOI report.

The video which went viral on social media was recorded by the accused who could be seen running towards the woman shouting "let us make video, she has set herself on fire". They claimed that the woman attempted suicide.

Meanwhile, police are waiting for the woman's recovery to record a statement.

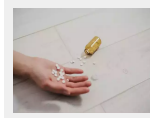

On the other hand, the family members of Rampyari Bai have lodged an FIR at the police station and named some of the villagers in the complaint. Based on the complaint, Police have registered a case of an attempt to murder and two of the three alleged accused have been taken into custody, reported TOI.

Rampyari Bai was found on the farm by her husband Arjun. Arjun told police that when he was going to the farm, he saw the three accused--Pratap, Hanumat, and Shyam Kirar going away with the family members in a tractor. In the meantime, he noticed smoke willowing from near a tree and ran towards it, he found his wife Rampyari.

On June 23, Arjun submitted an application with the SP claiming a threat to his life from those involved in allegedly burning his wife alive. He had also given a complaint to the Bamori police station in this regard, but no action was taken, sources said as reported by TOI.

Police said that the accused had encroached upon six bighas of land of Arjun that legally belonged to him. The matter was also settled in the court of tehsildar and the possession of the land was given to Arjun and his family, added TOI report.

On Saturday, when the accused were ploughing the encroached land, Rampyari reached the field and tried to stop them. At this, the three allegedly poured diesel on her and set her ablaze.

SP Pankaj Srivastava said an FIR has been registered and two of the three accused, Pratap, Shyam, and Hanumat have been taken into custody. However, the accused claim that the woman has set herself on fire. An investigation into the matter is underway.
